Omahans Subscribe $6,600 To Organizations' Bowl Trip

Vice President Charles Hoff announced Wednesday that $6,600 has been subscribed to send University organizations to the Tangerine Bowl New Year's night.

Omaha business firms, associations and individuals donated $5,000 for the transportation of the cheerleaders, ROTC and University Bands, Majorettes, Princess Tangerine, Ouampi and the Sabres, the ROTC drill team.

E. C. Eppley, a former university regent, subscribed $1,600 to send the Marching Angels drill squad with the other groups.

Off on the Burlington

All organizations will go by Burlington railroad. The schedule is as follows:

Leave Omaha 4:45 p. m., Dec. 29

Arrive Orlando 12:50 p. m., Dec. 31

Leave Orlando 2:25 p. m., Jan. 2

Arrive Omaha 2:20 p. m., Jan. 4

All students will be required to buy their own game admission tickets, as this is a benefit game. "Even members of the Bowl Commission buy their own game tickets," stated Hoff.

Snacks Anytime!

The railroad will provide a special "luncheonette car" for the students, where snacks may be purchased at any time. Prices will be breakfast, 50 cents; luncheons, 75 cents; dinners, $1.25. These prices do not include tips.

Presentation of the money was made at the Chamber of Commerce Special Football Bowl Luncheon, Wednesday noon. Those present from the University of Omaha were members of the Board of Regents, the football team, coaches, University staff and the Faculty Athletic Committee.

Scroll to Rotella

Team Captain Rudy Rotella received a special scroll award for the team, honoring them for the first undefeated season in OU history.

Two special television programs, called Tangerine Preview, will be shown on WOW-TV at 10:45 p. m. tonight and next, Friday. These programs will show "some inside information" on the University's appearance at the Tangerine Bowl.

Lounge Furniture May Arrive Early

The moment will soon be here. The moment for the new lounge furniture to arrive. The furniture has been ordered and is expected to be delivered before the second semester.

New furnishings will not be the only attention the lounge will get. In addition, Allen Aust, building superintendent, and his crew will redecorate the walls. Said Dean Jay B. MacGregor, "We are giving the lounge a new look for the new year in hopes that it will inspire students to keep it neat and clean."

Convo To Feature Band, Presentations

Today's Pop Concert, which will be held at 9:45 a. m. in the auditorium, will feature the music of OU's band, directed by Robert Gaskill. The audience will participate in community singing.

The winner of the football team's "Beau Brummell" contest will be announced at the convocation. This contest was run in conjunction with the movie now playing at the Omaha theater. The winner will receive an 18-inch statue for being the best dressed football player on campus. The football "Beau" was selected by an all-team vote.

The band will play "Christmas Greetings," "The Children's Prayer," "Hallelujah Chorus," "March of the Tin Soldiers" and "Night Before Christmas." Students must stand during the "Hallelujah Chorus."

When "Tangerine" is played, the Princess Tangerine will be presented to the audience.

The University band will also play Christmas carols. They are "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Away in a Manger," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," "Deck the Halls," and "Silent Night."

The program will close with the playing of "Bay State March."

Students are requested to withhold applause during the Christmas carols. In order to assure safety during the assembly, students must not block exit doors. No one will be admitted after standing space is filled.

Union Group To Meet

The Student Union Planning Committee will meet at noon Wednesday in Room 100.

Persons interested in the project may contact Mrs. Thelma Engle, University hostess, in the Business Office.

Four Art Department Students Decorate University Display Windows for Christmas

Christmas displays at the University have been constructed by four students in the University art department.

The story of "We Three Kings of Orient" appears in the third floor showcase. The gilded design on parchment paper was made by Jane Anderson and Janet Johnson, senior art students.

An illustration of an old English ballad, "Cherry Tree Carol" will be constructed in the showcase by the Business Office on second floor. The series of decorated panels was designed by Joan Willey.

Original decorations by Pat Ryan were used at the Deans' Tea this week. The Nativity scene, presented on a large Christmas wreath, and an aluminum ever-

Football Players Choose Pedersen Bowl Princess

Miss Jackie Pedersen . . . Omaha's Princess Tangerine.

Miss Jackie Pedersen is Omaha's Princess Tangerine. Elected by the football team, Miss Pedersen will be presented at the Pop Concert this morning at 9:45.

The team selected her from a list of five finalists who survived the preliminary judging by five male Gateway staff members. The finalists were picked for "beauty from head to toes" from 34 contest entrants.

Majoring in speech, Miss Pedersen is a brunette, has brown eyes and is 5 ft., 5 in.

As Omaha's Princess Tangerine, she will receive free traveling expenses to the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla.

Miss Pedersen will be crowned by Rudy Rotella, captain of the football team. She will be presented wearing a short-styled Indian costume, appropriate for Florida's warm sunshine.

A representative from J. L. Brandeis and Sons store will present the princess with a gift certificate to be exchanged for a traveling outfit which will include a suit or suit-dress, shoes, bag, hose and costume jewelry.

Miss Pedersen's attendants will receive billfolds from Brandeis.

A Calandra Camera Company representative will present the princess with a Brownie Hawkeye camera outfit.

The four attendants to the princess are Carolyn Chapman, Pat Kavan, Janice Peters and Donna Rasgorshek.

The team selected Miss Pedersen after judging photos of all five finalists in bathing suits, street clothes and formals. Thirty of the 34 team members traveling to the Bowl were present to vote in the Tuesday afternoon secret-ballot election.

The princess will represent the team and the University at the Bowl game New Year's night.

Madrigals To Sing On TV Tomorrow

"Carols Through the Ages" is the Christmas theme of the Doors of Knowledge program tomorrow at 4:30 p. m. on WOW-TV.

A madrigal group from the University's music department will present ten traditional Christmas songs on the half-hour show.

Sung in Latin, "Adoramus Te Christe" will begin the yuletide selections. "Lo, How a Rose Ere Blooming" will be sung in German.

A few other songs will be "The First Noel," "Carol of the Bells," "Angels We Have Heard on High" and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

Judy Rogers is student director of the program. Cliff Soubier will assist her.

Expense Paid Trip Awarded Editors

The long road to Orlando will not be as rough as anticipated by Gateway Editor Bill Beindorff and Tomahawk Editor Paul Chierling.

Both men will make the trip to the Tangerine Bowl with the Alumni Association contributing $50 to cover expenses of each man or his representative.

The Board of Student Publications has also guaranteed each editor an additional $50 for the trip.

Since they could not afford to send a large group of students, the Association's Board of Directors decided they would send student publication editors in order that they might bring back a first-hand account of Tangerine Bowl proceedings.

Adult Ed Choir To Give Convo

The Adult Education Choir will present a convocation at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday. This is the first performance of the year for the 25-member choir. Dr. Richard Brewer, head of the University and Adult Education choirs, will direct the 15-minute performance.

The program is in conjunction with the traditional Dean's Coffee Hour for Tuesday night students.

A small orchestra will accompany the choir in the "Heinrich Schultzs Christmas Story."

Students and parents may attend the program if they wish. Adult Education classes will be dismissed for the convocation.

Attention Veterans

Veterans may sign their monthly report forms for December on Tuesday and Wednesday because of Christmas vacation.

Miss Alice S. Smith, registrar, requests that all reports be in by the deadline.

Former OU Instructor Writes Song: 'Sudden Hit'—Wilson

"When Are You Comin' Home Joe?" a new song that is currently becoming a hit back east is the composition of a graduate and former instructor of the University of Omaha.

Mrs. Virginia Haradon, whose maiden name is Maes, has written Alumni Secretary Tom Townsend that her new song was published recently and just released on an RCA label "X" recording.

Broadway columnist Earl Wilson tabs the record, which features vocalist Dinah Kaye, as "a sudden hit." He points out that "Tisn't about Marilyn Monroe, but lotsa folks think so."

Actually, according to the letter sent Townsend, Mrs. Haradon wrote her song with the idea of mending broken homes. She said, "I feel I can make some continued contribution to better family relations with this song; for if only a small percent of the men who hear the song are affected enough to feel like having a try at returning home, a great savings of public funds will have been accomplished (estranged families cost the public over 293 million dollars a year) not to mention the savings in terms of heartache."

The words to the song go like this:

"Oh, when are you comin' home, Joe,
When are you comin' home?
All of us here are lonesome,
All of us miss you so.
Maybe you hate to face me,
Leaving the way you did.
But I want you to know
That I need you so,
Oh, when are you comin' home, Joe,
Oh, when are you comin' home?"

Mrs. Haradon received her bachelor's degree with a major in psychology in 1946 and a bachelor in sociology two years later. She also taught Marriage and the Family at the University for a time. Her husband, Clayton, is also an OU graduate, getting his bachelor's in 1948 with a major in psychology and sociology. They are presently living in Amityville, N. Y.

Writing Soon?

Surprising facts are learned in Miss Hedvig Nyholm's English 111 class.

During a grammar discussion Friday, Miss Nyholm commented, "You know who had beautiful parallel construction? Abraham Lincoln, I think I have a letter of his here."

Not being able to resist the opportunity, Frank Hohenhouse asked "Does he still write to you?"

I don't mind a bit delivering these beautiful Wurlitzer pianos from Hospe's—in fact, I love to do it! Be sure to see us for all your musical requirements this Christmas!

Students Continue Families' Tradition

When Emil Radik and Marvin Nevins play in the Tangerine Bowl game New Year's Night in Orlando, they will be the second members of their family to participate in a sport in the "sunny South."

Emil's brother, George, was the quarterback on the Phillips midget football team in the 1952 Santa Claus Bowl in Lakeland, Fla. He is now a sophomore at South high. While big brother Emil is following in George's footsteps in the realm of football, little brother George followed Emil in the golfing world by capturing the inter-city championship in 1954. His win, combined with Emil's triumph in '51, gave the Radiks the distinction of being the first brothers to win the title.

Marv, on the other hand, will be following his sister Gladys into Florida. Under the name of Helen Hild she toured the wrestling circuit from '46 to '49. After her marriage to Ted Wills, under study to male lead George Ganges in "Wonderful Town," she wrestled in Florida for two years. Although she and her husband lived in Mimal Beach, she was on the card several times in Orlando.

Coach Cardwell Selects Bowl Squad

Coach Lloyd Cardwell last week named a squad of thirty-four players to make the Holiday trip to Orlando, Fla. The official bowl traveling squad will consist of forty-six members.

A total of six ends are included on the list. They are Captain Rudy Rotella, the other starting end Dick Cotton, Howard Baker, John Cimino, Wayne Malnack, and John Welch.

The tackles are composed of Ed Baker, Marv Nevins, Hank Goethe, Bob Gloden, Ken Leeper, Elwood Mink, and Milton Hearn.

Three pairs of guards are on the roster. Starters Simon A. Simon and Frank Hahn, Fred Adams, Clarence Sage, Frankie Mancuso, and Fred Moyer.

The center position will be filled by Harry Johnson, Tom Harper, Dennis Brewster, and Don McMahill.

In the backfield Ken Conrad, Emil Radik, Pete Rigatuso, Dick and Jerry Tannahill, Bob Trumbauer and Mike Watanabe will be making the trip, along with Bob Wheeler, Arnold Smith, Bill Engelhardt and Bill Steck.

The rest of the traveling party will be comprised of the three coaches, Lloyd Cardwell, Ernie Gorr and Tom Brock; Athletic Director, Virgel Yelkin; Team Physician, Dr. G. M. McArdle; and Equipment Manager, Mike Wolenski.

Two OU Students Elected to Office

Two University students have been elected to offices in the Omaha Pre-Legal Club.

They are Paul Blaufuss, vice justice and Carolyn Nevins, clerk.

Students interested in the organization may contact Paul Watts at the Creighton University School of Law. The group is sponsored by the Student Bar Association at Creighton.

IT'S A FACT! College smokers prefer Luckies to all other brands—and by a wide margin—according to the latest, greatest coast-to-coast college survey. The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. Now for the Doodle above, titled: Inept smoke ring blown by ept smoker. Real Winners

These two . . . and many other crippled youngsters . . . will be the real winners New Year's Day at the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando. All proceeds from the game go to help defray expenses at the Harry-Anna Crippled Children's Home in Umatilla, Fla., where they are under treatment.

Mambo Originator Says American Fans Inhibited

Not since the '20's when the Charleston craze swept the country, has anything made as much noise dance-wise on college campuses as the Mambo. The man responsible for the whole thing is the mambo's originator and chief exponent, Damaso Perez Prado.

In 1942 Cuban-born Prado quit playing piano and turned to writing and creating an uninhibited musical form.

He said, "The interpretation of the mambo is based on the saxophones. They carry the rhythm pattern. The rhythm section accentuates that pattern and the brass has a number of variable functions it can perform."

As far as the dance is concerned, Prado feels that Americans would have more fun with it if they were less self-conscious and more inventive about dancing it. "That way each dancer is a creative interpreter," said the originator.

Actually, the most important thing about Prado's mambo as opposed to other bands is its sound. It's unorthodox, it's unique, and its formula has proven popular with record collectors on campuses from New York to California.

Many Active In Centennial

The Centennial year officially closed with the Stecher-Miceli prize fight; and since the school year is about to close with the final exams fight, students can view OU's Centennial participation with satisfaction.

Dozens of students showed OU's civic spirit by turning out for special Centennial events.

Style Contrast

Donna Rasgorshek, 1954 Tomahawk Beauty Queen, was chosen to demonstrate the contrast between a hairdo typical of 1854 and the modern, official Centennial haircut of 1954.

Pat Kavan, crowned Miss Omaha of 1954 at the Centennial Theme Center, continued to participate in Centennial events by appearing in Robert Q. Lewis's Centennial Show, "Chuck Wagon of America."

However, Bill Kraville, acting as assistant publicity director of the Omaha Centennial celebration, gets credit for "most time and energy spent." As Bill recalls, part of the energy was nervous energy spent when he had a flat tire during a downtown parade with Robert Q. Lewis in his car.

Official Duties

Kraville's official task was to help write daily releases, get interviews for radio and television stations, and think up publicity ideas for Centennial events. In addition he acted as Centennial photographer, taking pictures at all the Theme Center activities.

The most thrilling experience he had was mingling with the stars of "Chuck Wagon of America." Among those he worked with were Jeffrey Lynn, star of the show; James Russo, director, and Ted Cappy, choreographer. Bill's most exciting assignment was taking pictures during the Fireworks Show. He stood in the middle of Municipal Stadium while aerial bombs and displays went off around him.

Other students participated by appearing in Theme Center productions and Centennial parades.

Cage Squad To Meet Emporia, Washburn

Coach Virgil Yelkin's cagers will attempt to improve on their 2-2 record during a two game junket into Kansas this weekend.

Friday night the Indians will square off against Washburn University. They will travel to Emporia State Saturday. Returning to Huskerland Monday night, Omaha will play a return match with Wayne State.

Dependable Schaetzle

Indian cage hopes seem to rest more and more on the dead eye of Stan Schaetzle. Schaetzle has collected an average of 21 points per game so far this season.

Other sparkplugs in the Red and Black have been Captain Bob Mackie and Fred Shinrock. Rookie center Don Meade seems to be rounding into a competent player after a shaky start in the first two games.

Omaha defeated Friday night's foe, Washburn, 72-65 in their only meeting last year. No press information has been received on the Ithabod cage team.

Rangy, Center

Emporia State sports a rangy center in the person of 6 ft. 4 in. Art Bloomer. Coach Gus Fish's squad, which suffered a 8-15 record last season, has many promising sophomores on its squad.

Monday night Yelkin's charges will return Wayne State's visit of last week. The Indians got some idea of what to expect during Monday night's game.

Fans at Omaha U.'s home opener saw Wayne State ace Roger Higgins and Jim Whitney come within two points of upsetting the Indians.

Indians Win Two; Suffer Drake Defeat

Omaha University cagers made their home debut Monday night, nipping Wayne State 72-70.

The lead was changed 5 times throughout the battle and the battle and the score was knotted 10 times.

Stan Schaetzle remained the Indian scoring gun with his 21 points. Teammate Don Meade scored 9 points for the Indians and played an outstanding floor game.

Split Trip

Indian cagers broke even during their weekend Iowa road trip, cuffing Simpson 65-56 Friday night and losing to Drake 82-63 the following night.

Top man in the Hawkeye invasion was Stan Schaetzle, who totaled 45 points in the two games.

Coach Virgil Yelkin's boys won handily over the Simpson Redmen, leading 32-25 at the half. Eleven cagers saw action in the Simpson romp.

Blow-Up

The Indians blew up in the second stanza of the Drake game Saturday night, after leading 32-29 at halftime. Contributing heavily to the Indian downfall was Bulldog Terry Olmsted, who broke a field-house record in adding 13 free throws in 15 tries. Schaetzle sparked the Indian scoring attack with 26 points.

Intramural Cage Season Initiated

Bowling shared the intramural spotlight with basketball this week as the cage sport launched its nine week visit.

Four games opened the single robin. Pi Kappa Alpha gained the league's first victory, dumping Sig Eps 35-31. Bob Wheeler scored 13 points for the Sig Eps.

Games Wednesday included ROTC vs. ISA and Theta Chi against Phi Beta Chi. A single contest Friday pitted Pawnees against Sig Eps.

Ralph Pettit, intramural head, says a basketball "B" league will also be formed in January for all organizations interested.

Don Munson and his Theta Chi mates were the big names in the bowling circuit in last week's games. Munson collected nine consecutive strikes on the way to a 255 game for the day's high.

The 144 shooter rocketed 58 pins over his average with a 607 series, to take double honors for the day. Both scores established league highs.

The 255 sizzler led to the triple downfall of the previously undefeated Pawnees, giving them a 9-3 record and narrowing their lead over ISA to a single game.

In other Thursday encounters Sig Eps edged Lambda Chi 2-1 in the afternoon's closest contest. Sioux defeated ISA "X" 2-1, and Pi Kappa Alpha dropped Phi Beta Chi 2-1. ISA won a forfeit over ROTC to round out the day's activities.

Trackmen

Track physicals will be held Monday and Tuesday from 3 to 4 p. m. in the Field House training room.

Cardwell Adds Coaching Honor To Gridiron Laurels

By Ed Rath

How does it feel to be named Little All-American Coach of the Year?

"It was the finest honor I ever received and was certainly a great privilege," was the answer put forth by Omaha University's Lloyd Cardwell, who last week was chosen Little All-American Coach of the Year.

"If I hadn't had such a great bunch of boys to work with, plus the combined efforts of a fine coaching staff, sportswriters and sport casters, it would not have been possible, explained the modest mentor.

Receiving honors is nothing new to the 42-year-old football tutor. Midwesterners will recall Cardwell as the "Wild Hoss" of Nebraska University teams in 1934, '35, '36, and later as a halfback for the Detroit Lions professional football teams of 1937 through 1942.

Cardie started his athletic career in Republic City, Kans., where he won four ribbons in a junior high school track meet, winning three seconds and one third place honor.

When his parents moved from Kansas to Seward, Nebr., Cardie got his initial start on the football trail. In four years as a halfback on the Seward High School team, he collected 324 points in 32 games. Once he scored 43 points in a single game.

Pending his three years as a back for Nebraska U. teams, he scored 120 points in 24 tilts.

As a professional player with the Detroit Lions, he was named to All-Pro teams of 1938 and '39.

Add to all this a bid to play in the Tangerine Bowl classic on New Year's night, and you have an impressive athletic history.

Pastel Jerseys, Wools Now Tops in Florida

With the first real snowfall this week, OU coeds and fellas dug their woollens and jerseys out of the mothballs in readiness for the winter ahead. It won't be long, however, till Tangerine bound students will be repacking these winter clothes since even Florida collegians are wearing flannels and wools instead of cotton frocks.

For all students planning to attend the New Year's night game, a top coat will almost definitely be necessary. Girls should plan to wear either a wool dress or suit with sweater or blouse. As for the men, flannel slacks of charcoal gray and black with dressy sport shirts and sport coats will put them in top fashion.

Winter whites and pastel shades in flannels, woollens and wool jerseys are the top colors and fabrics during the holiday season in Orlando.

Since evening entertainment over the New Year's holiday will more than likely be on schedule, OU students should plan to take along some type of evening dress.

The girls would be quite appropriate in after-five frocks of taffeta, velveteen, white woolen and other dressy materials. A conservative suit, white shirt and tie will suffice for the boys.

Madrigals To Present Christmas Program

The 1954 Christmas convocation will be presented at 9:45 a. m. Dec. 15. The entire program will be given by the vocal music department.

Featured at Wednesday's convo will be the University madrigal singers directed by Dr. Richard Brewer, head of the music department. Musical selections will consist of some 20 Christmas carols ranging from the popular "Silent Night" and "Jingle Bells" to less known carols such as "The Holly and the Ivy" and "A Virgin Unspotted."

The music occurs in somewhat chronological order, and each member of madrigal will become a narrator, telling the audience about the song to be sung.

The climax of this year's Christmas convocation will be a surprise finale, which is being prepared by the music department.

Class schedule for Wednesday morning is:

First period, 8-8:50
Second period, 9-9:40
Convocation, 9:45-10:45
Third period, 10:50-11:30
Fourth period, 11:35-12:10
Fifth period, 12:15-12:55.

Danforth Offers Appointment Grant to Coed

The Danforth Foundation offers appointments to a limited number of young women who have just graduated from college and who are interested in the experience of Christian work on a college campus.

The award covers the period of Aug. 1, 1955 to May 31, 1956. However, the offer is open each year. Deans or Danforth associates may nominate the girl. All applications are given careful study, and one representative from each state may be selected.

The grant includes $1,600 to cover living expenses and other costs. The winner also receives a travel allowance.

Each Danforth graduate is assigned a state and a university for her special responsibility. The state is usually a considerable distance from her home. The Danforth graduate will try to help every constructive organization on the campus to further each program. She may or may not work with the religious groups.

Danforth believes that people should not be fanatical about religion, but rather to "stand, talk and act tall," to hold up ideals and be a good person, for this reflects religious training.

The women are under no obligation to continue with the work. The graduate may not take any academic courses at the college for credit. She may audit courses involving not more than four hours a week. The course should relate itself to her task and should not detract from the value of her service.

Five weeks are spent in summer training at Camp Miniwanka of the American Youth Foundation, Stony Lake, Shelby, Mich. This period is divided into three parts.

During the last period, the girls become a part of the Faculty Conference held each year by the Danforth Foundation and concerned with the presentation and discussion of "Christianity on the Campus."

Variety of Positions Offered By Student Placement Office

Anything from a parttime job unloading salt or feeding animals to fulltime careers in accounting, advertising and sales management can be found at the Student Placement Office.

Director John E. Woods urges all seniors to register early to help the office place seniors more quickly in more desirable jobs.

Time off-campus jobs made more than one-half million dollars. Fifty percent of the men enrolled in school worked an average of 25 hours a week and 31 percent of the women enrolled worked an average of 14 hours a week. There were 840 requests for secondary teaching jobs, and there were only 137 teachers enrolled at the University.

The Placement Office offers instruction on how to seek a job and makes data sheets free of charge. These data sheets give a full record of the students' experience, schooling and description.
